$100,000 OFFER
FOR BOND IN ITALIAN GANG
MURDER CASE*Arthur J. Freund, Police
Commissioner, Rejected Proposal Made to Him as Attorney.*TO TELL GRAND JURY
GO-BETWEEN'S NAME*Fight for Bail Preceded Failure of Prosecution of 12 for Palazzolo Murder.

The Post-Dispatch learned today that an offer of $100,000 was made to a politician to Arthur J. Freund, attorney and member of the Board of Police Commissioners, to prepare bond for and defend Italian gangsters charged with murder, at a time when bond was being opposed by police with all their power in the belief they had the gangsters in the net where they could be convicted.

Freund rejected the offer, and immediately went to the presiding judge, William H. Killoren, and set the judge on his guard by stating that of money apparently was available for use in the case.

There had been persistent rumors "tossing" in this case, and a threatened desperate legal battle was being fought for and against bail and by attorneys for the Police Department, the gangsters and the great attorney's office.

The case was that against 12 men charged with the murder of Alphonse Palazzolo, notorious gangster and extortionist, who was shot to death at Tenth and Washington streets, St. Louis, Sept. 2, 1927. One of the defendants, Ralph Calico, was tried in January and acquitted. The indictments against the others were not pressed.

Freund today confirmed the Post-Dispatch information and said that he had given to the Post-Dispatch tonight by Judge Killoren were substantially accurate. Freund stated he was prepared to go before a grand jury at any time and name the politician who made the $100,000 offer.

Statement by Judge Killoren. Judge Killoren's statement to a Post-Dispatch reporter follows:

"Shortly after the Italian cases were set down for trial in my court, Arthur J. Freund, an attorney and member of the Board of Police Commissioners, called on me to represent the defendants in obtaining bond, which the Police Department was opposing, and to defend the cases. From this proposition, Freund said he assumed a great deal of money would be spent on the case in all directions.

"I thanked Mr. Freund for his statement, which was helpful to me in putting me on guard. I said that he ought to have discussed the case with the man who offered $100,000 so as to trap him and discover if possible which, if any, official would be a party to waiving justice.

"He told me he did not even want to have that connection with the gangsters and their representatives and would not defend them for any price. He also told me the man who offered him the money was from his office to that of Attorney Sidener.

Prepared to Try Cases.

"With this in mind I prepared to try the cases, but before they came to trial, Mrs. Meyer, wife of Deputy Sheriff Meyer in my court, telephoned me she thought she knew the Italians were not on bond; that she was a friend of William Russo, and hoped he would make bond. I declined to receive the case with her.

"After the cases had been docketed, Assistant Circuit Attorney Maroney, which case he would elect to try first and was prepared when he informed me it was he was not to be the prosecutor, despite the fact that he handled the case before the grand jury.

LONDON, June 5.—Mary Malone, actress, wife of Godfrey Tearle, actor, is the first person to cash in heavily on the English Derby, which will be run at Epsom Downs tomorrow.

Acting for his wife, Tearle yesterday sold for $30,000 a half interest in a ticket in the Calcutta Sweepstakes, on which she drew Ranjit Singh. Present odds on the horse, which is owned by the Agha Khan, Indian potentate, are 100 to 6.

H. Griffiths of London, now in service with the West African frontier police force, drew the ticket on Fairway, the favorite. If Fairway wins Griffiths' bit of pasteboard will be worth more than $1,250,000. Miss Hilda Ellsworth Young, a London typist, drew Girandola. Although that horse has been scratched she will collect about $7500, merely for drawing a nominee. Thirty workmen at the Manchester factory of a big electric company drew Grange View, a 100 to 1 shot. Even if their horse does not finish, each will collect about $250. Frederick J. Benson, a London banker, drew Royal Minstrel, quoted at 18 to 1.

Because of Probable Nomination of New Yorker Ex-Governor Abandons Senate Campaign.

DALLAS, Tex., June 5.—Former Gov. O. B. Colquitt has withdrawn from the race for the Democratic nomination for the United States Senate in Texas because of the "probable nomination" of Gov. Smith for President, he said in a letter made public here today.

The letter was addressed to D. W. Wilcox, chairman of the State Democratic Committee at Georgetown. It follows:

"In view of the probable nomination of Gov. A. E. Smith for president by the national Democratic convention and that I have repeatedly stated that I could not and would not support him, I have decided not to ask for a place on the ticket in the Democratic primaries, a candidate for the United States Senate."

He has been advised by the Department of Justice that he legally has until Thursday to act on the measure. Under the opinion of the Justice Department, the 10-day limit for signature or veto applies between the sessions of Congress, but if he does not sign the measure will be subjected to a pocket veto.

ALVAREZ REFUSES TO KILL SELF

MEXICO CITY, June 5.—The newspapers state that Gen. Alvarez, former chief of state, is under arrest on charges of participating in a silk smuggling act, as stating "I am still alive because I am confident the court will find me innocent."

This remark is generally construed as a reference to stories which cannot be verified that high army officers sent Alvarez a pistol, suggesting that his suicide was necessary to remove the stain of his alleged crime from the army.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEWPORT, R. I., June 5.—Mrs. Emily Davies Vanderbilt today obtained a divorce from William H. Vanderbilt on the ground of neglect to provide.

The matter of alimony was not taken up and will be settled out of court by agreement. In a deposition, Mrs. Vanderbilt stated that she considered $30,000 or $40,000 a year a reasonable amount for alimony.

The divorce was granted in the record time of six minutes. Testimony consisted wholly in the reading of three depositions, one by Mrs. Vanderbilt, another by her mother, Mrs. Emily Davies, and a third by Mrs. Betty Barbara Hupman, a friend living in New York.

All deposed that Vanderbilt, whose income was set in excess of $250,000 a year, was stingy in his allowances to his wife. Mrs. Vanderbilt deposed that from the day of their marriage, Nov. 1, 1923, in Grace Church, New York, until they separated she was given an aggregate allowance of only $5400 and that she spent $25,000 a year of her own money for the support of herself and her home.

Vanderbilt received custody of a minor daughter, Emily, by agreement.

of Self-Exiled Oil Man.

DENVER, June 5.—Income taxes, interest and penalties aggregating $8,498,935.75 were assessed yesterday against Henry M. Blackmer, wealthy Denver oil operator, self-exiled in France, and at the same time the Government took steps confined as preparing for his prosecution.

Federal authorities filed liens in the Federal court and with the County Clerk totaling $2,656,048.16. Earlier in the day similar liens were filed in the New York Federal Court and Recorder's office, amounted to $6,442,455.62.

The tax liens filed here consisted of $1,045,000 in taxes; $335,000 penalty and $7,108,455.62 interest. It is understood the taxes and penalties are for the years 1916 and 1917 and 1919 to 1923 inclusive. Failure to pay taxes from 1916 to 1923 inclusive is alleged in the liens filed against Blackmer in New York.

News of the safety of the missing men came as A. A. Bennett and Tom Girard were ready to take off from Fairbanks in a second relief plane.

Before Stewart took the stand an affidavit by Paul V. Anderson, correspondent of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch was excluded from evidence. Hogan had produced the affidavit in an attempt to show that the questions which Stewart refused to answer had been prompted to the Senate Committee by newspapermen, but Government counsel objected to it as immaterial. By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, June 5.—Robert W. Stewart, chairman of the board of the Standard Oil Co. of Indiana, took the stand in his own defense today in the District Supreme Court, in his trial on charges of refusing to answer questions put to him in the Senate committee investigation of the Continental Trading Co.

Stewart said he was 62 years old, having been born in Cedar Rapids, Ia. He gave his occupation as a lawyer, and said his connection with the Standard Oil Co. of Indiana dated 24 years back, when he represented it as counsel. He testified that he had been chairman of the board since October, 1918.

H. C. Counsel Is Overruled.

Frank J. Hogan, Stewart's counsel, was overruled when he sought to develop what connection the oil man had with the organization of the Continental Trading Co. Hogan developed Stewart had not been subpoenaed as a witness until after he had visited the Senate office building on Feb. 1.

Stewart said he had returned from Havana, Cuba, to see Senator Walsh of Montana, and that the Senate subpoena was served on him in Walsh's office when he called to see the Montana.

The oil man said he did not testify on Feb. 1 and that he was not told to come back later. He said he returned to the Senate office building the next day, however, when he was sworn by Senator Nye of North Dakota as a witness in the Continental inquiry.

Stewart answered the pertinent questions of his counsel readily and briefly, looking toward the jury from time to time. He smiled when saying he could not remember the exact questions which had been asked him.

Hogan brought up the question about the Continental Trading Co. Liberty bonds which Stewart had refused to answer at the time of the Senate inquiry, and the oil man plunged into a resume of what he said he had told the committee at the time. He declared he had told the committee that he knew nothing about the Continental Trading Co.

Declined to Go Further.

Stewart said he had declined to "go further" into the subject of the Liberty bonds, and started to explain why he declined, but this was cut short by objection from the prosecution. The objection was sustained.

Hogan then brought up the question about whether Stewart had conversed with Harry F. Sinclair about the Continental bonds, and the oil man said he had declined to answer that question because he did not believe it pertinent to the inquiry.

Stewart said he had been asked the same two questions on Feb. 3 and that he had refused after challenging the authority of the Senators to interrogate him as they had. He also said that he had repeated his opinion to the committee that the questions were not pertinent.

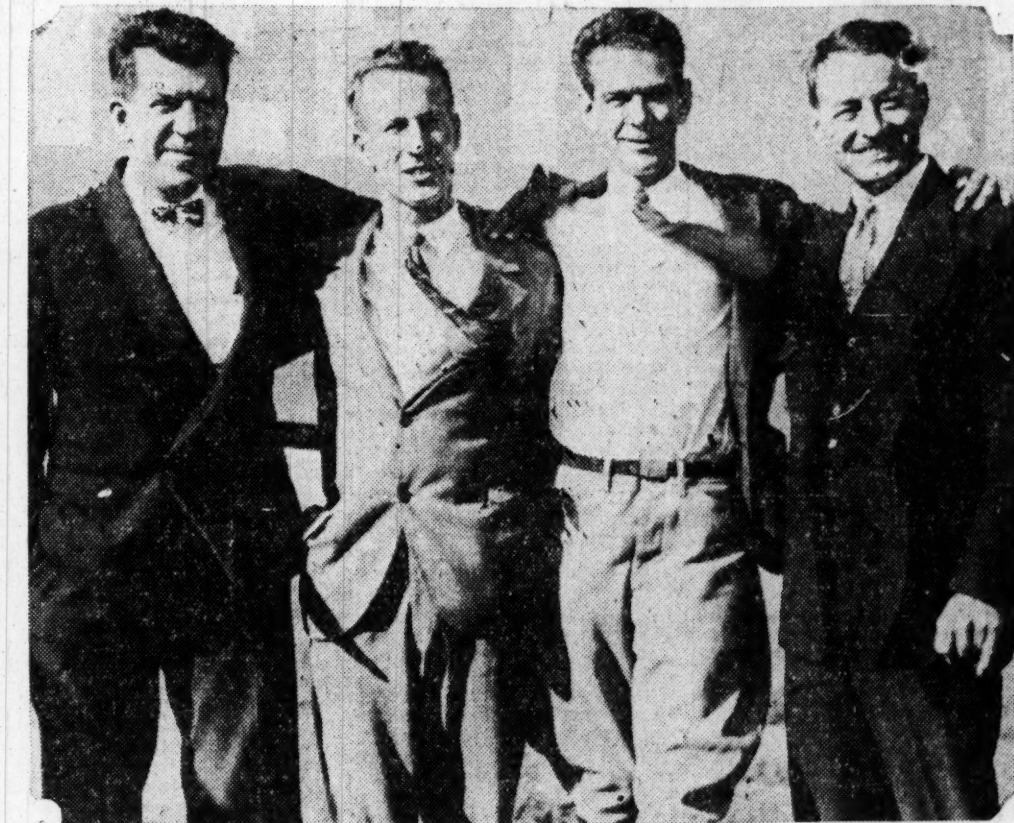

Two Successive Refusals.

After the Government rested this morning Hogan began an argument against holding Stewart accountable for each refusal to answer a specific question. He recalled that Stewart had refused to answer the same two questions in two successive days, and contended that under the law this did not justify the four counts for refusing which are included in the indictment. The jury was excluded during Hogan's argument.

Before Stewart took the stand an affidavit by Paul V. Anderson, correspondent of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch was excluded from evidence. Hogan had produced the affidavit in an attempt to show that the questions which Stewart refused to answer had been prompted to the Senate Committee by newspapermen, but Government counsel objected to it as immaterial. After a conference at the bench with lawyers for both sides, Justice Siddons sustained the objection.

The defense later rested. This abrupt announcement by the Associated Press.

STOCK DIVIDENDS FOR SELLERS

Jobbers and Retailers.

NEW YORK, June 5.—George J. Whelan, president of the Union Tobacco Co., today announced a plan for distributing a stock dividend of approximately $7,500,000 among the company's jobbers and retailers.

Whelan said the decision to distribute the stock was made in answer to a plea from the joint national committee of tobacco retailers and jobbers for a living margin of profit. The dividend made available is 300,000 shares, which at the present market price of about $25 a share amounts to $7,500,000.

The stock participation is offered to jobbers on a basis of three per cent of the wholesale price of goods bought from the company, based on a price of $30 per share. Thus a jobber buying $1000 worth of merchandise from the Union Tobacco Co. receives one share of stock. The retailer receives a stock dividend of 10 per cent of the cost of merchandise to him from the jobber. Thus he will get one share for every $300 worth of merchandise he buys.

By the Associated Press.

SUVA, Fiji Islands, June 4 (Wednesday).—Refreshed by a night's rest after their 3138-mile flight from Hawaii, the four men of the trans-Pacific monoplane Southern Cross planned to inspect today the beach at Naselai as a possible runway for the take-off to Brisbane, Australia.

The plane, fueled with 900 gallons of gasoline for the flight of 1750 miles, would require a runway of considerable length to gain way sufficient to take the air. British army officers expressed the opinion, however, that Naselai Beach, 16 miles from Suva, would prove adequate.

With Maj. Joske and Lieut. Ellis, the aviators will examine carefully not only the Naselai runway, but other sites, before making their choice. The field at Albert Park, on which Capt. Charles Kingsford-Smith and his three companions landed yesterday, has a runway of only 450 yards—a lawn denuded of trees to permit the plane to alight in the midst of the city.

Flight to Brisbane Next.

The course before the flyers to Brisbane lies to the south of the Loyalty Islands, composed of coral, and the mountainous island of New Caledonia. In this region cannibalism prevailed not long ago, and savagery still persists.

From Brisbane to Sydney they may choose an overland flight of about 500 miles, or avoid mountains by skirting the seacoast. The monoplane completed its 3138-mile flight from Hawaii at 2:23 p. m., Tuesday, by Fiji clocks, 6:23 p. m., Monday, Pacific Coast time, or 8:23 p. m., Monday, St. Louis time. It left Suva, capital of the Hawaiian Islands, at 5:28 a. m., Sunday, Honolulu time, or 9:50 a. m., Sunday, St. Louis time, thus completing the flight in 34 hours and 33 minutes.

Capt. Charles Kingsford-Smith, Australian pilot and leader of the flight; Capt. Charles T. P. Ulm, Australian, co-pilot; Lieut. Harry W. Lyon, former navy navigator, and James Warner, radio operator, were regarded as quite important personages in Suva today. (The latter two are Americans.) They were objects of admiration by all, the bushy-haired natives as well as the white inhabitants. The four men who flew in from the sea yesterday afternoon in the strange powerful blue and silver bird of cloth, wood and steel were cheered wherever they went.

Landing Field Too Small.

Albert Park, where the Southern Cross landed yesterday afternoon, was barely large enough to permit the plane to land. Unweighed by a large store of gasoline, the pilots missed running into the side of the inclosure by 20 yards and then over by making a sharp turn up onto rising ground.

It was 1:50 p. m., Tuesday by Fiji clocks when the Southern Cross passed over Ovalau Strait, separating the two chief Fiji Islands. Twenty minutes later the zoom of the motors was heard by the waiting crowds and a few minutes later the great plane was seen coming over the hills east of Suva at an altitude of 400 feet. The Southern Cross circled the park at a speed of 60 miles an hour, whirled out to Suva Harbor.

PHYSICIAN IS ACCUSED OF POISONING PATIENT*Dr. S. P. Blackwood of Corning, Ark., Arrested in Alleged Insurance Plot.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

CORNING, Ark., June 5.—Dr. S. P. Blackwood, Corning physician, was arrested last night on a charge of murder in the first degree. He is charged specifically in the information, filed before Justice of the Peace W. S. Ezell of Success, Ark., with administering poison to Gilbert Hays, Corning barber, who died in May, 1926, and on whom insurance policies totaling $15,000 were carried.

Hays' body was disinterred several weeks ago and some of the vital organs were removed and sent to the Arkansas State Chemist at Little Rock for examination. Officers received a report on the chemist's analysis and immediately disinterred the body a second time. Other organs were sent and after the second report was received, the arrest was ordered.

Dr. Blackwood, who held one of the policies on Hays' life, was his attending physician. Relatives of the man said that he suffered from a peculiar ailment which was never fully explained. Following Hays' death, one of the policies for $1000 was paid by the Home Life Insurance Co., but the company later decided the conditions were not normal and refused to pay the additional policies. Immediately civil action was brought by those interested in the policies to collect the balance.

After the civil case was filed, Postoffice inspectors began an investigation resulting in five men being indicted in Federal Court at Cape Girardeau on April 8. They are John Whitehead of Poplar Bluff, said to have been the insurance agent who sold the policies to Hays; William C. Wood, alleged to have been introduced to the examining physician as Gilbert Hays; Dr. Blackwood, S. P. Lindsey, officer in a Corning bank, and J. P. Masterson, wealthy farmer living near Corning.

All except Wood were arraigned in Federal Court at Jonesboro, Ark., on April 30 and released on bonds for $5000 each.

Dr. Blackwood was released on $1000 bond today after a habeas corpus hearing before Circuit Judge W. W. Bandy at Paragould.

WOMEN VICTIMS OF RADIUM POISON GET $10,000 EACH

$600 Annual Pension, Medical and Attorney Fees, Also Provided in Compromise.

BECAME ILL WHILE PAINTING DIALS

Five Had Sued for $1,250,000—United States Judge Sat as Mediator for Humanitarian Reasons.

Result of Bail Hearings. The result of several hearings to bail was that two defendants, William and Lawrence Russo, were released on bonds of $50,000 and $10,000, respectively. Circuit Attorney Sidener stated that the defense attorneys were not to learn the names of the witnesses. Sigmund Bass first appeared as counsel for the defense and later he was joined by Vernon Lacy, former Assistant Circuit Attorney.

Extraordinary legal jockeying marked the Palazzolo prosecution. The defense spared no money engaging experienced criminal attorneys and fighting to obtain bond for the indicted men as to learn the names of the witnesses. Sigmund Bass first appeared as counsel for the defense and later he was joined by Vernon Lacy, former Assistant Circuit Attorney.

Each of the five women will receive $10,000, payable on or before June 11. Each woman also will receive a pension of $600 a year, payable quarterly, beginning Sept. 11.

All previous medical expenses, not to exceed $7500 in the aggregate and to be approved by Judge Clark, will be paid by the corporation. The attorneys for the women, an amount fixed at $15,000, will be paid by the corporation.

For legal expenses incurred by the same attorneys, the corporation will advance $4500. All "ordinary and reasonable" medical expenses of the women for the future will be a recognized part of the settlement. Such medical treatment and expenses to be determined by a board of three physicians, all experts in radium poisoning treatment. The board will consist of one physician named by the women, one by the corporation and a third expert to be selected by the first two physicians.

Judge Clark also stated that a wealthy New Jersey business man and philanthropist, whose name he did not disclose, had volunteered to guarantee the $3000 a year pension money in case the corporation meets financial reverses in the future, a contingency regarded as most unlikely.

Announcement of the settlement by Judge Clark's office followed a four-hour conference among the five women and their attorney, Raymond H. Berry, in Berry's office.

The women are Miss Katherine Schaub, Newark, whose backbone is infected; Mrs. Albina Larice, of Orange, who says her left leg is four inches shorter than her right because of the radium poisoning; Mrs. Quinta McDonald, Orange; Mrs. Edna Hussman, of Hillsdale, and Miss Grace Fryer of Orange.

In their acceptance of the proposal, the company's counsel stated their belief that the company was not negligent, but that they were moved to agree to the settlement for "humanitarian reasons." The company hopes that the treatment which will be provided for these women will bring about cure of the condition from which they are suffering, the letter continued.

The litigation was started in the state Supreme Court a year ago at month and defense counsel based their plea on the statute of limitations which states that a suit for injuries cannot be started after 10 years have passed since the inception of the injury.

Efforts were made to obtain an injunction restraining the company from settling up the statute of limitations as a defense. These efforts were pending when Judge Clark sought a settlement.

The women contracted the poisoning while painting luminous watch dials for the company. Representing

DYER PROPOSED FOR PLATFORM COMMITTEE

Hoover Men's Suggestion Likely to Be Opposed by Missouri Lowden Supporters.

By CURTIS A. BETTS.

A movement by supporters of Secretary Hoover for the Republican presidential nomination to bring about the selection of Congressman L. C. Dyer of St. Louis as the Missouri member of the Platform Committee at the national convention in Kansas City next week, is virtually certain to meet with determined opposition by the Lowden delegates. As three-fourths of the Missouri delegates favor Lowden, Dyer would appear to have little prospect of success.

The Lowden forces are expected to put former Gov. Hyde on the Platform Committee. He is not publicly committed to Lowden, but in politics he trains with the group which is supporting the former Governor of Illinois. He has extensive farming interests, is a fighter and might be expected to stand firmly for an agricultural plank satisfactory to the Lowden backers.

Gov. Baker has been mentioned for the Platform Committee, and yesterday issued a statement in support of the McNary-Haugen bill, which was variously construed as a bid for this post or possibly an attempt by the Governor to revive his boom for the vice presidential nomination which was started several months ago and which attracted no attention outside the State office-holding group.

In addition to the contest for member of the platform committee, there may develop a fight at the meeting of the Missouri delegation Monday morning for the place on the credentials committee, though the extent of the interest in that will hinge upon the decisions of the National Committee in the contests which it is hearing this week.

If the committee should seat Hoover delegates in states in which Lowden believes his delegates should be seated, there will be appeals to the Credentials Committee, in which event it would be to Lowden's interest to control that committee also. So far there has been no discussion of the probable selection for the Credentials Committee.

Former Congressman Cleveland A. Newton and Circuit Clerk John Schmoll, Hoover delegates, advanced the suggestion for Dyer's selection on the platform committee. The decision probably will rest with James A. Finch of New Madrid, Lowden manager in Missouri. Finch is not likely to consent to Dyer.

Of the 29 Missouri delegates, approximately 20 are counted for Lowden. Of the remainder seven are counted for Hoover, and two are more favorable to former Secretary of State Hughes than to any other candidate.

ROBBED OF AUTO, WATCH AND MONEY BY TWO MEN
Gordon Harris, Salesman, Says Holdup Men Boarded Car at Boulevard Stop.

As he made a boulevard stop at Skinker road and Lindell drive at 8:30 o'clock last night, the automobile of Gordon Harris, 6225 Cabanne avenue, University City, was boarded by two men, one with a revolver.

The armed man struck Harris, pushed him away from the steering wheel, then took the wheel and drove south in Skinker and east in Clayton road to a point past the Mounted District Police Station in Forest Park. There the men robbed Harris of his car, his watch, a $30 pay check and $106.80 cash, of which $106 belonged to the Del-Home Light Co., which employs Harris as a salesman.

Two men obtained $75 in a hold-up at the Laclede Gas Light Co. branch, 3524 North Grand boulevard.

A Negro held up Paul McCulloch, manager of a filling station at Labadie and Whittier avenues, and took $20 before McCulloch realized the "automatic pistol" he saw in the robber's hand was merely a cigar lighter. The Negro ran away.

DR. H. C. WAYMAN RESIGNS AS HEAD OF WILLIAM JEWELL
Board of Trustees Meeting at Kansas City Accepts Resignation of President Unanimously.

Special to the Post-Dispatch. LIBERTY, Mo., June 5.—Dr. H. C. Wayman returned yesterday from Kansas City, where his resignation as president of William Jewell College here was tendered and unanimously accepted by the Board of Trustees earlier in the day.

Asked for a statement by a representative of the Post-Dispatch, Dr. Wayman said, "I have no statement to give. It was very kind of your newspaper to ask me for one, but I have nothing to say. I do not know when my resignation will take effect. I have no plans for the future."

ASKS $5 FOR JEWELS WORTH $15,000, FOUND 2 YEARS AGO

Laborec Tells Philadelphia Police He Thought They Were Valueless.

By the Associated Press. PHILADELPHIA, June 5.—A 55-year-old laborer, Giuseppe Chiddi, walked into a jewelry store yesterday, dropped several sparkling objects on the showcase and said "Give me $5 for them."

A surprise clerk looked at three diamond rings which he estimated worth $3000 each, a $1200 bar pin and other articles. Chiddi was engaged in conversation until detectives arrived. He said he had found a small bag of jewels near the railroad station in Glenside in January, 1926. "I took them home," he said, "but they did not seem worth much, so I tossed them back on a shelf. Today I brought some rings and things to see if anyone would buy them."

Police learned that the jewels had been lost Jan. 12, 1926, by Mrs. J. W. Little of Glenside and that they were valued at more than $15,000. Chiddi was detained pending investigation.

SOS, PRESUMABLY SENT BY MISSING
ITALIA, PICKED UP

Radio Messages Caught by Amateurs, Give Franz
Josef Land as Position of Nobile's Airship.

By the Associated Press.
MOSCOW, June 5.—The soviet Rescue Commission, which is planning to send an expedition to Franz Josef Land to seek the missing dirigible Italia, was more firmly convinced today that Gen. Nobile had descended at that place by reports of new wireless messages picked up as late as 7:55 last night and thought to be directly from the Italia.

Advices received from Murmansk today stated a message from the Italia announcing her descent on Franz Josef Land had been picked up by the wireless station at Obdorsk, Tobolsk, Siberia.

The trawler Loutchinski, off the Murmansk coast, also reported having heard calls presumably from the Italia, but that she was unable to pick up actual communication because of atmospheric interference.

The soviet meteorological station in Siberia reported today it had picked up what was thought to be an SOS from the Italia, but that the location could not be determined. Two other Siberian stations, SOB and PUR, reported having heard a similar call.

Text of Message.

The commission published this morning a statement giving the full text of what was supposed to be the first call of distress from the missing dirigible Italia and expressing the opinion that the Italian language in which the message was couched as well as the wave length in which it was received indicated with a fair degree of certainty that Gen. Umberto Nobile and his crew would be located on Franz Joseph Land.
The statement was signed by I. S.
Unschlicht, Vice Commissioner of War.

The supposed message from the Italia was picked up by a radio amateur at Voznesensk in North Dvinsk Province and was received on a 33.25 wave length, corresponding to the Italia's radio. Unschlicht ordered two soviet ships, the Persey and the Taimir, to proceed as soon as possible to Franz Josef Land. The vessels will be provided with airplanes and aéro-sleighs.

Conditions Support Theory.

The text of the message as certified by the radio amateur who picked it up was as follows:

"Italia Nobile Franz Josef SOS
SOS SOS SOS terri teno ohn." (No explanation was offered for the last three words which may have been garbled in transmission.)

The soviet Nobile Relief Commission is now convinced the call came from the Italia since wind conditions at the time of the air-ship's disappearance tended to support a theory that it was toward Franz Josef Land.

Call Indicates Italia Is East of Kings Bay.

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, June 5.
—Radio message in English and Italian, repeated frequently, were heard at midnight by amateurs at Gaevle, Upsala, Sjarnum, and Trollborg. The message said:
"Italia Nobile SOS Kingsbay east, radio Bordeaux."

It is inferred that unless a hoax was being perpetrated, the dirigible Italia was trying to inform the world that it was able only to hear Bordeaux. The amateurs received the message on wave lengths varying from 800 to 1000 meters.

National Life Co. Wins Tax Suit. WASHINGTON, June 5.—The National Life Insurance Co. of Montpelier, Vt., succeeded in the Supreme Court yesterday in its effort to have declared unconstitutional certain features of the Federal revenue act under which an income tax is imposed upon life insurance companies. It insisted that the tax as computed did not give income from tax exempt securities owned by insurance companies the exemption guaranteed by law.

Edible Sunshine

are fortified for success

Parents:—It is well known that any child who is struggling for physical growth and well-being hasn't much energy left to fight the mental and success battle of life.

A well-known authority says:
"Butter is among the most concentrated energy foods known to man. Butter in the diet increases the weight and height of children in the formative period."

Children need sunshine inside their growing bodies as much as they do outside. Sunshine children escape most of the ailments and diseases peculiar to childhood. That is because of the beneficial effect of sunlight's precious ultra-violet rays. And good butter supplies these valuable life elements in the form of vitamins A and D you have read so much about.

The super flavor and nourishing quality of Blue Valley Butter begins with tested and thoroughly pasteurized cream. Every unusual care attends each step.

So, give the children plenty of Blue Valley Butter at every meal. Butter is a vital food—more so than perhaps you realize. Blue Valley comes only in the triple-wrapped package. It is never sold in bulk.

NIGHT LAW SCHOOL OF ST. LOUIS U. TO BE DISCONTINUED

Entrance Requirements and Studies Cut Down Attendance, President Says at Commencement.

Abandonment of night classes in its school of law was announced today by St. Louis University at its one hundred and tenth annual commencement, held in the university gymnasium.

In explanation, President Cloud said in his annual report that the increasingly heavy entrance and study requirements cut down the classes in number to such a point that it was no longer worth while to continue them. The present night classes will be sent through to graduation, however.

A total of 353 degrees were awarded for the year, which was characterized by President Cloud as the most successful term, from an educational standpoint the school has ever enjoyed.

Of the degrees, 51 were given to students of the university's six corporate colleges for women, Pontbonne getting 11, Maryville 16 and Webster 24. The degrees will be presented to the women graduates at separate exercises during the week.

Rain Prevents Procession.
Because of the rainy weather the time-honored procession of graduates and faculty in cap and gown was abandoned and the assembly in the gymnasium opened the exercises. Dr. Cloud's report was read by the Rev. Joseph Davis, rector of the school of Commerce and Finance. The speaker was the Very Rev. P. J. McCormick, professor of education in the Catholic University at Washington.

He spoke of the application of ideals acquired with education in the world beyond the college walls. "The balance in which Catholic education is to be weighed," he said, "must be how it stands the test of living. You go into a world from which the ideal has all but disappeared. It has its own ideals, after a fashion, but more properly they are standards and standards which do not measure up to your ideals."

Addressing himself to the women graduates, of whom a few were present, he spoke of their opportunities as being greater than ever before. "Woman is not only the mistress of the home," he said, "she is now in the busy marts of trade, and not only as clerk or stenographer but as executives and directors." Women lawyers and doctors, he added, have ceased to be novelties.

The list of degrees included 32 M. A.'s to graduates of the medical school and 73 D. D. S.'s to graduates of the dental school. Eighty of the medical and dental graduates were commissioned officers in the Organized Reserves of the army. Thirty-two certificates were awarded to short-course students of the School of Commerce and Finance.

In the College of Arts and Sciences there were 60 degrees of Bachelor of Arts, 35 of Master of Arts, four of Master of Science, four Doctor of Philosophy and two of Bachelor of Science. In the school of education, four received B. S. and five A. B. degrees. Twenty-four pre-medical students received degrees of Bachelor of Science in Medicine.

$25,000 Gifts During Year.
The president's report announced total benefactions of $25,000 during the past year, including a $10,000 gift from the estate of the late David May for a students' loan fund. The other gifts were anonymous.

Among the outstanding achievements of the year were listed the establishment of a dental clinic for parochial students, of whom 1600 were treated in the past four months, and the operation of a medical bureau which gave medical service to 12,000 school children.

Watch Tongue For Signs of Illness
Your tongue is nothing more than the upper end of your stomach and intestines. It is the first thing your doctor looks at. It tells at a glance the condition of your digestive system—and physicians say that 90 per cent of all sicknesses start with stomach and bowel trouble.

A white or yellowish coating on your tongue is a danger signal of those digestive disorders. It tells you why the least exertion tires you out; why you have pains in the bowels, gas, sour stomach, dizzy spells.

And it's a sign you need Tanlac. This good old reliable medicine has helped thousands who were physical wrecks. See how the first bottle helps you.

WOMAN HURT IN AUTO CRASH; DRIVER FLEES

Miss Mary Dallett Thrown From Car in Collision; Others Injured in Accidents.

The driver of an automobile in which Miss Mary Dallett, 5573 Enright avenue was a passenger, jumped from the machine and fled at 11:55 p. m. yesterday after she had been thrown to the street in a collision at Garrison avenue and Washington boulevard with an automobile driven by Gregory Ahern of 6517 Avalon avenue.

Miss Dallett suffered a probable fracture of the skull and Ahern was cut and bruised. Police who attempted to trace the missing driver learned he had given a fictitious address in taking out his license. Miss Dallett declared she did not know where he lived.

A driver who fled from his wrecked automobile at Broadway and Arsenal street Sunday night after a collision in which two persons were injured seriously, proved yesterday, the police report, to be Jesse E. Smith of 1416 South Broadway. The police quoted him as saying he fled because he had been drinking and feared prosecution on an intoxication charge.

In the crash George Parkinson of 4251 Junata street suffered a fracture of the skull and his wife a fractured arm. After the accident someone stole $70 from Mrs. Parkinson's purse which she had left for a moment in the Parkinson machine.

Joseph Gleicher of 1921A Franklin avenue, suffered fractures of the skull and ribs and internal injuries when he was knocked from his wagon at Twentieth and Morgan streets at 3 p. m. yesterday by an automobile driven by Grandison Jefferson, Negro, of 2747 Lucas avenue.

Hugh McLean of 1015 Oakview drive, suffered probable fractures of the skull and spine when his automobile collided at Chouteau and Jefferson avenues at 1:30 a. m. today with an automobile driven by Harry L. Woehle, 3906 Federer place.

Mrs. McLean was cut and bruised and Mrs. Alice Rose, 28, of 5560 Pershing avenue, a passenger in Woehle's car, suffered a fracture of the right hip.

When an automobile driven by his son, Ervin, 2815 Acorn street, collided with a truck on Lemay ferry road at Sappington at 2 p. m. yesterday, Gregory O'Toole, 71, suffered a fracture of the skull. The police were unable to get the name of the truck driver.

PLANES IN NATIONAL AIR RACE TO BE SERVED IN ST. LOUIS

Final arrangements for serving the airplanes in the Transcontinental Air Race next September were made yesterday at a conference at the Racquet Club in which the participants were Dudley M. Steele of Los Angeles, chairman of the Contest Committee; Maj. Albert Bond Lambert and Director of Public Welfare Salisbury.

Steele arrived in St. Louis yesterday in a Waco-Ten biplane piloted by Ralph O. Brown. He said that between 50 and 75 airplanes would stop at St. Louis, one of the control points, in the race from New York to Los Angeles. St. Louis will be a day control with a 30-minute stop allowed for gas, oil and water.

Cash prizes totaling $50,000 are offered to contestants. The race will begin a few days before the opening of the National Air Races at Los Angeles, Sept. 6.

Official Asks Wife to Return.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., June 5.—Judge Howard A. Vrooman, of the County Court, testifying yesterday in his wife's suit for separate maintenance, declared he had taken the action to injure him politically and socially. With tears in his eyes, he turned to his wife and asked that she return to him and bring their two daughters with her. Mrs. Vrooman made no response.

FAIRMOUNT RACE TRACK, June 5.—
Due to the sloppy condition of the track, the program a memorable one.

The topsy turvy situation prevailed even in the feature event, where seven of the best sprinters met at six furlongs. Bill Seth's victory over the favorites resulted in a refund of $20.40 for $2.

Apprentice Jockey Cravena brought Bill Seth through from fourth to first place in the run through the stretch, passing Homestead, Mac Maxim and I. Davis.

A surprising thing about the result on Bill Seth is that he paid only $4.06 for $2 to place, indicating that many persons thought him worth a bet, but not quite a favorite.

Vera C First Winner.
Splashing over a very muddy track, Vera C. well handled by W. Bogdanowski, gave the small crowd a real thrill by passing three leaders in the stretch to win the opening race, and paying the unusually long odds of $28.46 to $2.

Harpoon, which had paced the field almost from the start to the last sixteenth, dropped back in the last few strides and finished second, with Bless Her Heart third.

Favorites Score in Second.
Mud and water had no bearing on the outcome of the second race, which the favorites finished in money. Adventuress was first, her passing Murky at the half-mile pole, but the latter showed she was game by hanging on to finish second, in front of Secoracy.

The winner paid $11.52 for $2. Shropshire, a promising apprentice, who is under contract to Phil Leuter, was on Adventuress.

Whiskey Run in Front.
Whiskey Run, a robust looking year-old colt owned by J. W. Kearns and trained by S. Kerrigan, won his first victory of the meeting here when he won the third race.

In two previous starts here, Whiskey Run was second and third but both were six-furlong races. He found both the mud and the longer route exactly suited and he came fast in the last quarter to pass Play Hour, the early leader. Hamble was second and Ticker third. The winner paid $11.12 to $2.

Dark Angel by 3 Lengths.
The finish of the fourth occasioned a severe shock for those who played the favorites. Master weep and Queer were far back while Dark Angel, which was roused in the "field" with Carmi and Boy from Home, was the winner, with Betty Browning second and Shining Light third.

Dark Angel needed the aid of prayers, W. Smith, a jockey new to the track, having arrived yesterday with W. F. Hausman's stable, hustled his mount to the aid at the very start and resisted all challenges. He put plenty of daylight between himself and the others and was cantering home three lengths to the good. The winner paid $45.56 for $2 and the race prices were also long.

MISS WILLS AND MISS RYAN TO PASS UP BRITISH DOUBLES
PARIS, June 5.—Miss Helen Wills, winner of the French women's singles tennis championship yesterday, announced today that she and her fellow-American, Miss Elizabeth Ryan, will not defend their British championship in women's doubles in the tournament at Wimbledon, England, beginning June 25.

Miss Wills said she had decided to confine her participation to the women's singles and the mixed doubles in which she will be paired with Francis T. Hunter, second ranking American player.

Wins Boxing Title.
LONDON, June 5.—Battling for a bantamweight championship of Great Britain, Kid Patterson of England, knocked out Kid Johnson of Leeds in the twelfth round of a 26-round bout at the Royal Sporting Club yesterday.

FAIRWAY, OWNED BY LORD DERBY, CONTINUES TO RULE FAVORITE

Pre-Race Posting Of Mutuel Odds Proves a Failure

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, June 5.—The dream of racing wagers, a mutuel system whereby the field leaves the barrier, has been shattered, temporarily at least.

The system was attempted as one of the many innovations at Chicago's gigantic racing plant, Arlington Park, for yesterday's inaugural, but it failed. Officials of the track said it would be given more study for another attempt next year, possibly.

While 20,000 fans cheered their tribute, Florence Mills, a five-year-old mare of the O. Viau entry, outclassed a field of 12 brilliant Western stakes winners, to win the Premier Mile Handicap with $5000 added yesterday. Flat Iron and Leigh Olga, two Chicago entries, finished second and third, respectively.

EPSON, England, June 5.—The sporting world today turned its attention to Epson Downs where the season's choice 3-year-olds fight it out in the historic Derby tomorrow.

Twenty-three slim colts will struggle for supremacy over the irregular course of a mile and a half while Prince and Commoner forget the difference in rank for the day at least.

The favorite, so far as expert opinion goes, is Fairway, owned by Lord Derby after whose ancestor the ancient course is named, and whose trained observers believe should bring home the Derby colors ahead of the brilliant field.

Astiride and the favorite will be Tommy Weston, who rode Fairway to victory in the Newmarket Stakes traditionally regarded as the gate to success in the great Epsom race.

Sunny Trace Well Liked.
But Fairway will not have the course to himself by any manner of means. Bales of hopeful money are backing Sunny Trace, Lord Dewart's brown colt, and Flamingo, stout-hearted entry owned by Sir Laurence Phillips. Sunny Trace is a lively mover but perhaps a greater factor in his popularity lies in the fact that he will be ridden by Gordon Richards, champion jockey of last season, and a frequent winner this year. The hopes that many hold of success for Flamingo rest more firmly on this bay colt's own well-proven merits. He has shown fair speed and is known as a runner who always has something in reserve for emergencies. In the Derby stamina counts as much as speed and Flamingo's supporters believe he has as much, if not more, strength than any of his rivals. C. Elliott, one of the most successful of English riders, will have the stirrup on Flamingo.

Steve Donoghue, king of Derby jockeys through his four victories in this classic, has brought great popular favor to his mount, Gang Warily, a colt regarded as a 20 to 1 shot by the experts. The favorite, however, is as much a faithful as Donoghue's skill that it is certain Gang Warily will be as closely watched as any colt in the race. Gang Warily is owned by the wife of Capt. George Drummond, banker and old country cricketer. Lady Richardson, wife of Sir Lewis Richardson of South Africa, also is seeking to be the first woman to own a Derby winner. Lady Richardson's entry is Fernleaf, at odds of 40 to 1.

Two French Colts to Run.
An international flavor is added by the entry of two French horses. Jacques Witthout sends his crack colt, Palais Royal II to the barrier. The other French entry is Baron de Rothschild's Bubbles II. Both colts have established great records in their own country and have installed additional interest in a race already the most exciting of all English sporting events. Palais Royal was retired from the Grand Prix so that he could be conditioned with a Derby victory as his only goal.

The picturesque Indian potentate, Aga Khan, has entered Ranthi Singh which with Capt. G. P. Gough's gray colt, Royal Minstrel, is receiving moderate backing. Some excitement has been aroused by Gough's absence in the jungles of Africa. He has been unheard from for several weeks and some thrill makers were speculating on whether he was alive and pointing out the confusion that would result if Royal Minstrel should win after his owner's death. Under the rules the colt would be disqualified.

King George went to Epsom today to view the first day's racing. Tomorrow he will witness the Derby with the Prince of Wales, the Duke and Duchess of York and

HORSESHOE CHAMPION AND STRONGEST FOE TO PLAY HERE SUNDAY

A horse show pitching exhibition will be given by C. C. Davis, world's champion and Bert Duryee, runner-up to Davis in the St. Petersburg tournament last winter, at Fairground Sunday beginning at 11 o'clock. Davis has won the last three national championships, setting several new ringer records at the last tournament.

Duryee, who played with the Justin T. Flint Laundry team of the Municipal League last season has doubled with Davis since the Florida championships. In a 50-point game played between these two stars at Wichita, May 11, all ringer marks for one game were broken when Davis defeated Duryee, 50-48. The champion threw 60 ringers out of 132 shoes and Duryee took 46 out of the same number of tries.

Princess Mary and her husband, the Viscount Lascelles, will be in the audience. Epsom Downs already is occupied by an army of campers, hawkers and gypsies ready for tomorrow's big show and incidental big trade. All transportation facilities in Southern England will be brought into play to carry the half million or more enthusiasts to Epsom and home again.

MYRICK WANTS TO KEEP TILDEN OUT OF DOUBLES

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, June 5.—If some of the backstairs rumors being aired today can be accepted as credible, the next contest in the Davis Cup series will not feature the American's appearance in the inter-zone finals with the European winner, after all. It will be the usual match between William T. Tilden and the United States Lawn Tennis Association or at least that segment of the organization that is irremediably anti-Tilden. They say this element, headed by Julian S. Myrick, former Davis Cup chairman, is committed to a program that would keep Tilden out of the European tour, thus avoiding the inter-zone finals and the challenge round. The Americans survive that long.

The anti-Tilden forces, they say, desire the following line-up to hold good through the European campaign: Sinclair, Tilden and John Hennessey, Indianapolis; doubles, Hennessey and George M. Lott, Chicago; reserves, Francis J. Hunter, New York, who has been acclimating abroad, and "Junior" Coen, Kansas City, who is going along just for the ride.

It was the first intimation of this program that prompted Tilden into the lead in the inter-zone challenge of Bessie Her heart an eighth, but he was dropped from consideration without his Tilden's advice and consent as team captain. Tilden's reply was distinctly reassuring to those who believe in Tilden and his leadership. The chairman said, in effect, that Tilden's dominance was not in contest, so far as he was concerned.

Most Ideas Are Sound.
However, we cannot speak for the entire committee. If there is to be any attempt to depose Tilden—as the official entries at Wimbledon might indicate—it will be made before the Davis cup sails for the United States. For, if they fail to plan Tilden down before he gets out of ear shot, the chances are that, one word from them and he will do just as he pleases. The young man has plenty of fixed ideas and most of them are sound, at least.

It matters work out in this fashion, Tilden may become what he found to be so objectionable in Myrick. He would be the czar of American lawn tennis abroad, the man who will arrange to bring the cup back as a personal triumph or the man who must accept the blame for failure. He is being supported to the limit by the Davis cup chairman and by the team manager, Samuel M. Peacock, both products of Tilden's home town and club.

There isn't any doubt that the opposing factions, if such exist, have reached a difference of opinion honestly. Tilden wants to play with Hunter because he sincerely believes they form the best double combination in American tennis, as their record clearly indicates. Those of opposite persuasion grant this but claim that Tilden no longer is able to stand up to consecutive days of challenge round play.

ORISSA, 15-1, BREAKS BELMONT TRACK MARK IN FASHION STAKE

NEW YORK, June 5.—The Rancocas Stable's Orissa captured the Fashion Stake, four and a half furlongs, at Belmont Park yesterday but was forced to break the track record to do so. The two-year-old daughter of Purchase and Durban, a 15 to 1 shot, led all the way but just barely nosed out Spree at the finish line. Atlanta, the favorite, was third. Orissa's time was 2:14 1/2 seconds flat, eclipsing the old record by two-fifths of a second.

Whiskey Run overtook and dislodged Play Hour in the first half mile then drew away into long and strong in the stretch. McGraw Thinks Sisler's Addition Will Prove an Aid to Hornsby's Team

By John J. McGraw,
Manager New York Giants.

NEW YORK, June 5.—The races in the two major leagues have arrived at that point now where it is pretty certain, in my opinion, at least, that there are more good clubs in the National League than in the American. Perhaps, I had better state in the other way—there are more bad clubs in the American.

At the beginning of the season the indications were that the Yankees would be out in front in the American League with practically no opposition, excepting the Athletics. It has happened that way, despite the early spurts of the Cleveland Indians and the St. Louis Browns. As a result, the Yankees appear to have no real opposition excepting the Athletics and the New York team is much too young and much too powerful in punch to be stopped by Philadelphia. That was pretty clearly shown in the six games they played in the first real test. The Yanks won five.

Big Punch Is Needed.
If the A's can't stop the Yankees I don't know where to look for a formidable rival. The other clubs are perhaps closer matched but they are too far away. The present trip of the Eastern American League clubs into the West will prove that all the more conclusively, I think.

In the modern school of baseball the punch counts more than ever. No club without it can hope to be a real contender. Even good pitching won't count unless there is a heavy punch behind it. That is exemplified in our league. The Robins undoubtedly have good pitching. They have for the past few years. The club has lacked the punch and the defense to sustain such pitching.

The Cubs also lack punch. Their pitching will not be so good away from their home grounds and surroundings. The road may cause McCarthy's outfit much disappointment.

As I observed at the beginning, though, the National League is in much more balanced race. While the American League has but two clubs in the running, the National has five. Either the Giants, Reds, Cardinals, Pirates or Cubs have a chance for the pennant. The strength of the Reds was noted a month ago in this column and they have not disappointed. Their new punch, plus the good pitching, has done the trick.

In the spring practice games I could see signs of something lacking in several of the American League clubs. The Senators did seem as machine-like as formerly. Their showing has been a keen disappointment.

Glad Braves Got Sisler.
The Reds have come forward more strongly than any of the teams since the Browns had their flurry and fell back. Sisler's physical condition, but he has been game enough to take a chance on building up a team for Boston and I hope he makes good with it. That is the only way to find out—give such a chance a trial.

There is a good chance that such a distinct change in environment will do Sisler good. If he is right physically he ought to be a big help to the Braves.

The influence of real pitching in baseball was shown the other day when Braxton shut out the Yankees giving them their third blank of the season.

The made by which the Giants secured Bob O'Farrell has been of great benefit to us already. When Hogan was lost O'Farrell filled in so that the club moved along without any setback at all.

SPORT SALAD

Lyrics by Limerick Lala.

I If you ask me the name of the best team in the league, I'll tell you it's the Cardinals. I would say that Babe Ruth Commands not a little of the prize.

They may not consider it a prize, But the pill he can crack. And he hasn't gone back. Since the first time he cracked the prize.

Though others the prize call a meal, And play the most wonderful ball, We most humbly submit That the Babe can crack it all. And he's shoulders and arms over all.

Too True.
Hughie Critz is a contender in the National League where he is not considered as valuable for having once been a former winner not being Hughie will have a field in his hands.

Over in the A. L. with Bambino barred, the competition will only mean that the winner is the best second baseman in the league.

Oh, Mumm!
"Argentine Hunk" is a Result of Mumm Beating. H. Monte Mumm, who you do, To Denor V. Campolo. When here at "Mum" was a drum. You couldn't beat a solo.

Why Not?
In Buenos Aires, Yano Campolo, who was munched by Monte Mumm, was another Luis Firpo. Mumm is!

There is no crying damask. Burt Shotton's Phillies to baseball on Sunday. But if Phils would play a little more other six days of the week fans would appreciate it.

When a ball team changes managers every year or so, it still gets nowhere, the team still are that the team in the machine is higher up.

A light hand on the wheel and a heavy foot on the gas is all that a smooth road baseball machine needs.

See where Uruguay's Olympic team was awarded the decision over the German team. The Germans were the fittest. The Germans were the fittest. The Germans were the fittest.

It may be all right to a mile for a camel but it's all the way to Egypt for a ball referee?

MILLIGAN KNOCKS OUT ROSEBLOOM IN NINTH

LONDON, June 5.—Tommy Milligan of Scotland, former British welterweight champion, last night knocked out Maxie Rosebloom, crack New York middleweight, in the ninth round.

Rosebloom claimed a foul as he sank, writhing, to the canvas, but it was disregarded by the referee. The American had been leading on points up until the unexpected finish of the bout.

By CHARLES G. ROSS.

Chief Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, June 5. — On both the Democratic and the Republican sides the fight over the presidential nomination has resolved itself into a desperate effort to stop the leading candidate.

A bitter-end statement given out here Saturday by Lee Mcgawther, manager of the Reed-for-President headquarters, has aroused much comment. Declaring that the nomination was "far from being anchored" by Gov. Smith, Mcgawther said he could "not conceive that delegates from normally Republican states will be determined

When Senator Reed started his campaign, it was thought by most observers that he would avoid antagonizing the followers of Gov. Smith, so that if the latter should fall to make the grade, Reed would be in a favorable position to inherit his strength. Reed Alliance With Simmons. By the statement of Meriwether, however, Reed, now has been brought, inferentially at least, into a last-ditch alliance with Senator Simmons of North Carolina and the others who, on account of Smith's religion or his weakness, or his connection with Tammany, or for other reasons, are being pushed up and maintained as a one-third bloc against his nomination.

Meriwether claims an anti-Smith strength at Houston of at least 45

He lists 47 votes from Ohio against the general belief that after a complimentary ballot or two, the delegates about 40 of those votes will go for Smith.

He lists the 26 delegates from Kentucky, who are yet to be chosen. He lists 20 from Mississippi, though Senator Pat Harrison of that State is not unfriendly to Smith. He lists 16 from Nebraska, which in all probability will give eight votes for Smith after the

He lists 12 from West Virginia out of the 16 chosen there last week, although Associated Press dispatches today say that Governor Smith will have 11 1/2.

Many Votes Still Doubtful.

There are still other claims in the list that will not bear analysis.

In the view of most unbiased observers who have followed the course of the campaign, the bitter underdog now can count upon a strength of not more than 300 delegates.

Of course it is quite possible that the psychological wave which been carrying Smith along may be reversed in the convention. Senator Simmons, though an old man, is still a vigorous and able fighter. Senator Reed, who will be on the ground at Houston, is likewise a warrior of parts and a good tactician. They will be able to make trouble, and apparently they are in a mood to do it. There is a curious alliance, for Simmons is not a Reed man. About the only common interest that they have, is the desire to stop Smith. If Smith is stopped, what then? It does not seem likely that Reed, in that event, would draw out of the Smith column enough votes to put himself over.

That is as far as analysis at this stage can go. All that one can say is that if Smith does not win within a few ballots, as seems likely to do, there may be another such shambling as the party played at Madison Square Garden in 1924.

Coolidge Still a Possibility.

Manchurian War Lord Reported to Have Succumbed to Injuries in Bombing at Mukden.

By the Associated Press.
SHANGHAI, China, June 5. —
The railway bridge at the Yangtsun, 18 miles northwest of Tien-sin, is reported to have been blown up, thus holding up the withdrawal of two Manchurian army corps to Mukden.

The bridge was said to have been destroyed by leaders of 20,000 troops which formed part of the Northern armies, their action being influenced by intrigue and bribery. The Manchurian troops were brought to Peking by Chang Tso-lin and had long formed the chief part of his army.

TOKIO, June 5.—The Mukden correspondent of the Japanese newspaper Jiji Shimpo today reported that Chang Tso-lin, one of the Northern dictators, had died from wounds received when his train was bombed yesterday. There was no confirmation of this from another source. The correspondent

Another Japanese newspaper also received the report that Chang Tso-lin was dead.

As far as official information given out by the Foreign Office concerned, Marshal Chang was only slightly injured.

Death of Governor Confirmed.

A Japanese War Office dispatch, however, confirmed the death of Wu Chun-sheng, military Governor of Hellungkiang. Wu had risen from the ranks to become virtually the acting Governor of Manchuria.

Mo Teh-hui, Chang's Minister of Agriculture, and Yu Kuo-han, one of Chang's advisers, were in Both Chinese and Japanese authorities at Mukden were investigating the attack on the train. Press dispatches said that demonstrations of anti-Japanese feeling among the Chinese had calmed down when it was estimated that the Japanese had no connection

Gates of Peking Closed to Battered Stragglers.
By The Associated Press.

PEKING, June 5.—Because of the many deserters from the Mukden armies of Chang Tso-lin wandering about the north side of the city, the gates of Peking were ordered closed this morning.

The order was issued by the committee of public safety under Wang Shi-chen, whom Chang requested to arrange for peace and order in the city before he abdicated. The committee assumed authority today over the police with an additional 1500 Northern troops as a garrison force.

Chang Hsueh-liang, eldest son of Marshal Chang Tso-lin, was en route to Mukden today in person.

It is estimated that the Pekin-Mukden railway, which is Chinese owned, lost $200,000 Mexican (about $100,000 U. THE POST-DISPATCH PLATFORM

I know that my retirement will make no difference in its cardinal principles; that it will always fight for progress or reform, never tolerate injustice or corruption, always fight demagogues of all parties, never belong to any party, always oppose privileged classes and public plunderers, never lack sympathy with the poor, always remain devoted to the public welfare, never be satisfied with merely printing news; always be drastically independent; never be afraid to attack wrong, whether by predatory plutocracy or predatory poverty.

The Arbitrary Left-Hand-Turn Rule.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
AUTOMATIC traffic signals are to be installed on the city's chief boulevard, the newly widened Olive street. One of these admirable devices will be located at the intersection of two broad thoroughfares, Olive and Twelfth boulevard. It will be desirable for traffic to make left-hand turns at that corner, but the authorities in St. Louis have ruled against left turns wherever there are automatic signals. It is to be hoped that this arbitrary rule will be changed. It ought to be possible to make a left turn at any signal, but more particularly at a place like Twelfth and Olive. Chicago and other big cities find such an arrangement entirely practical. What will our Street Department do about it?

The Proposed Clayton Hospital.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
SPECULATION has been rife as to the "mysterious source of opposition" to locating the new county hospital in Clayton. Need one remain long in doubt? What land owners are now residing in the courts, the extension of Clayton limits, embracing the particular site selected for the hospital—and their own property? Could it be that the same source which opposes Clayton's engulfing it (on the basis of being "farm land") would resist the placing of the hospital in "farm land"?

Wake up, Mr. Mayor and Aldermen of Clayton. Where is Clayton's Business Men's Association? Who has heard of a "city" of the size and population of Clayton not wanting a hospital? What town in St. Louis County has not requested or would not seek the location of the hospital within its limits? Mr. Clayton Merchant, will you let this institution be moved to an illogical location—to your loss—or will you demand the weighing of your interests against those of one or two predatory individuals?

Dr. Clendinning's Articles.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
THE published in your valuable paper certainly contains information in a way to be easily understood.
The articles are closely read by quite a number of people with great interest. Definite and accurate statements such as given are better appreciated than ordinary generalities. People can learn easily the principal functions of the human machine and then be told plainly and briefly the principal items to observe so as to keep the machine in healthy condition, then many may be interested who have not enough patience to read books or dig through literary literature.

A Curious Doctrine.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
UNTIL proved to the contrary by its repeal, the American people want prohibition, and they don't want a man who has been free to say he hates it, to be trusted with its enforcement. In view of these incontrovertible facts, any individual, party or newspaper who indorses such a candidate flouts the will of the people and is guilty of sedition. Opposition to the dry law is privileged to advocate its repeal but it is not privileged to exploit or indorse a wet for the head of a dry Government.

A LIFELONG DEMOCRAT.

Married Women Workers.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
IN this day of unemployment, I think that something should be done to eliminate at least a part of this trouble by discarding, from offices and other places of employment, all married women who are not absolutely forced to work; in other words, married women whose husbands have good positions and are making good salaries.

A large number of men who have families to support, widows and single women who have to support themselves are walking the streets looking for work. If a married woman is forced to work on account of having a disabled husband or one who cannot get work, it is quite a different thing. But it is perfectly absurd for the other class of married women to work and thereby crowd others out of work who have to make their own livelihood.

Where Does Lightning Come From?

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
IN the ever so informative Post-Dispatch I read every word of storm that occurred during the national balloon races where one pilot was killed by a lightning bolt. Especially I took note of the fact that lightning "struck the lower section of the gas."

Well, it always goes that way, contrary to all scientific theory, that is, lightning always strikes lower parts of everything whenever it strikes because lightning comes from the earth not from the clouds. Science is altogether wrong about lightning and I wish I could have a chance to prove it. I have studied lightning for 47 out of my 50 years.

GEORGE KOSANOVICH.

THE POCKET VETO.

There is a controversy over the question whether the President can sign the Muscle Shoals bill, to make it a law within the ten days allowed him after the adjournment of the session of Congress at which it was passed; and whether, if he takes no action on the bill before the ten days' period expires, it will automatically become a law. Senator Norris maintains that if the President takes no action, the bill will become a law. He says a pocket veto is possible only at the end of a Congress, not at the end of its first session.

The Constitution declares that every bill which shall have passed both Houses of Congress shall be presented to the President, and that he shall sign, if he approves; but if not, he shall return it with his objections to that house in which it originated. Then, after the provision that a vote of two-thirds of both Houses shall override the veto, the Constitution reads:

If any bill shall not be returned by the President within ten days (Sundays excepted), after it shall have been presented to him, the same shall be a law, in like manner as if he had signed it, unless the Congress by their adjournment prevent its return, in which case it shall not be a law.

It seems from this provision that no bill, not signed by the President after the adjournment of Congress, can become law. Presumably, it would become a law if the President signed it. That was the contention of President Cleveland, who asserted that the Constitution gave him ten days in which to sign, regardless of the adjournment of the session of Congress in which it was passed. Attorney-General Palmer ruled in accord with the Cleveland position and President Wilson acted upon the ruling. The validity of acts signed under this ruling has not been questioned.

As to Senator Norris' contention that the rule applies only after the end of a Congress and not after the first session, there is nothing in the Constitution to indicate whether the adjournment referred to relates to the end of a Congress or the end of a session. Judge Cooley, whose book, "Principles of Constitutional Law," is one of the best authorities on the Constitution, commenting on this provision, does not mention the end of a Congress but refers to a session. He says:

In some cases there has been a species of silent veto, through neglect of the President to return a bill transmitted to him within the last ten days of a session, whereby it would fail to become a law.

He adds it was "not contemplated by the Constitution that the President should purposely defeat legislation by that mode," but that sometimes, on account of the great rush of bills, it occurs because the President has not had time to consider and pass upon the merits of all of them presented to him.

It is evident, however, that Mr. Cooley regards the provision of the Constitution applicable to the end of a session as well as to the end of Congress. It seems reasonable, because the President cannot return a bill to Congress with his veto. All that he can do is to approve and sign it. If, therefore, he takes no action, the bill not signed would seem to fall under the provision of the Constitution which prescribes that in that event it shall not become a law.

Possibly the question in the case of the Muscle Shoals bill, which was bitterly opposed, may be taken to the Supreme Court for adjudication. That would be the only way in which to obtain a definite decision. But we venture to predict that if the President does not approve the bill it will not become a law. We do not think the Constitution intended that the President should be bound, when he wanted but could not veto a bill, to permit it to become a law without his approval.

THE SHAVIAN WEDDING PRESENT.

George Bernard Shaw, in his latest work, "The Intelligent Woman's Guide to Socialism and Capitalism," makes the following observation, one particularly pertinent in this month of June:

When a young lady is married, her friends give her wedding presents instead of giving her money, and the consequence is that she finds herself loaded up with six fish-tails, seven or eight traveling clocks, and not a single pair of silk stockings. If her friends had the sense to give her money (I always do), and she had the sense to take it (she always has), she would have wanted such a thing, and plenty of stockings.

G. B. S. speaks not only in the interest of the bride; it would seem he philosophizes indirectly for the good of the groom. G. B. S. is married and when he speaks of silk stockings, he, as usual, knows what he is talking about. For there can be no more intelligent gift to the groom than silk stockings, or the whereabouts to purchase them, for the bride. And every June groom will agree with that by the first of July.

MUSOLINI AND THE PRESS.

Benito Mussolini will not be a nonresident member of the National Press Club, notwithstanding he was so elected and congratulated upon his election by Mr. Essary, the president.

It was all a dreadful mistake, of which the governing board of the club officially repented when a delegation of members walked in and filled the club office with their spoken protests. Perhaps Mr. Essary even had not realized how jealous American newspaper workers are of that free press which is one of the most powerful of our American traditions. At any rate, after a delegation headed by Charles G. Ross, chief Washington correspondent of the Post-Dispatch, had described its emotions in the fiery manner of Patrick Henry and threatened to resign if Mussolini were made a member, the board held a hurried executive session and rescinded its action.

Mussolini, therefore, is out. It was true, as the protesters said, that the National Press Club is the official organization of American newspaper workers. This being so, to elect Mussolini a member would be to say that the newspaper workers of the United States sanction his terrible strictures upon the press of Italy, including the ruin of the Corriere Della Sera of Milan, one of the greatest liberal journals in the world. That is not, in truth, the way American newspaper men feel about Mussolini or any other enemy of the free press, and by the time the spoken protests were over the governing board was sure of it.

This closes the incident. It was a good thing; despite the unthinking act which caused the explosion. American newspaper workers needed an opportunity to express their resentment of the widespread disposition to forget what the country owes to a free press.

and a dunderheaded board of governors in the National Press Club unwittingly gave them that opportunity. A very gratifying feature of the revolt in the club was the participation in it of men who are associated with newspapers that are not classed as liberal. They, too, despite their lip service to their papers, proved at heart worthy of the great heritage from the men who made the press free.

ELECTRIC RATES.

It seems not to matter much at what point the financial operations of one of our public utilities is looked into. There is always a high degree of make-believe which seeks to justify the cost of the service by stuffing operating expenses.

The latest revelation of this sort has resulted from investigation by the city into the depreciation charges of Union Electric, which are characterized in the municipal brief sent to the Public Utilities Commission as misleading. The brief says:

The company's claim of $2,336,400 for annual depreciation (3.96 per cent of $59,000,000) is far in excess of its reasonable requirements, and far in excess even of the amounts heretofore collected during the last 11 years, and therefore should be greatly reduced.

It exceeds the amount collected in 1927 by $662,235, or 39 per cent. Just why the company now claims $2,336,400 for annual depreciation, when it has never seen fit to lay aside more than $1,698,164 during any one of the last 11 years, is not clear. It is clear, however, that the effect of increasing the annual depreciation allowance is to increase operating expenses and to reduce net available income accordingly.

Indeed it is clear, as are all the deceptions of the utilities when they are looked into. The city claims that Union Electric could reduce its annual net revenue at least $2,000,000 and still pay 7 per cent upon its claimed valuation of $59,000,000 if it charged against operating expenses for depreciation no more than it actually needs and uses to keep the property up. The city also claims that if the company did this and gave the community credit for the annual increase in net earnings, which is approximately $500,000, "it could make an immediate total reduction in rates of $1,418,000 instead of a voluntary reduction of only $706,467."

In our opinion, the city's point is admirably made. We imagine that the utility's sophists will be somewhat put to it to dissuade the commission from taking cognizance of it.

MR. MELLON AND THE STOCK MARKET.

Since it is necessary for the United States to sell its 3 and 4 per cent bonds, Mr. Mellon decided to do something about the stock market. It is hard to sell Government bonds when the stock market offers such a lively demand for money at higher rates.

Mr. Mellon has therefore influenced an increase in the price of money. Call money is now 7 per cent. Has the stock market collapsed, and has a chastened investment public asked for Government bonds?

No, not quite. The stock market is still robust. The fact that money is high has not kept General Motors from hovering around the 200 point. From which we must conclude that Mr. Mellon cannot do anything about the stock market, which is probably a good thing. He might decide that buying Government bonds is all the excitement that is good for us.

THE LEGALIZATION OF SNOOPING.

Henceforth, dry agents may obtain evidence by tapping telephone wires without fear that such action will be denounced by the courts as violative of the Fourth Amendment. In a decision involving about ninety Seattle, Wash., men, the Supreme Court of the United States held that such methods do not constitute an unlawful invasion of the sanctity of the home or the privacy of the telephone. The Court differentiated between telephone messages and the opening of mail; likewise it saw a difference between "listening in" over tapped wires, and the actual trespass involved in peering through keyholes or open windows.

This gives snooping a status which it has never enjoyed before and adds another important victory to the long list which the drys have gained in the Supreme Court. The best criticism of the Supreme Court's reasoning is contained in the dissenting opinion of Justices Holmes, Brandeis, Butler and Stone. It was their view that tapping telephone wires is a criminal act, and that the Government is not justified in permitting its agents to engage in criminality to detect crime. It is much better, they say, that some criminals should escape than that the Government should play an ignominious part.

Although the remarkable opinion of the majority in this case stands as the last legal word on the subject, those who are old-fashioned enough to be jealous of the safeguards implied in the Fourth Amendment find a crumb of comfort in the dissenting opinion. What the dissenting Justices say would seem to be better representative of true American doctrine than the majority report, and their ideas may yet supersede what has apparently come to be the judicial fashion of resolving most doubts in favor of the snoopers.

THE SCROOGL OF AMARILLO.

At last a brickbat has been hurled at the laureled head of Col. Lindbergh. The iconoclast is an Amarillo (Tex.) editor, named Gene Howe, whose other claim to fame is that he is the son of Ed Howe, venerable "Sage of Potato Hill," whose philosophy, done in newspaper paragraphs, caused the world in other years to beat a path to Atchison, Kan.

The son of Ed Howe was angered at Col. Lindbergh's attitude towards the Amarillo folks who had gathered in a great crowd at the flying field to see the aviator land. So far from appreciating the compliment, Lindbergh, according to Ed Howe's son, was plainly annoyed and showed his irritation. Wherefore, the charge of "swelled head," in a biliously precatory article of humanity's one idol. Perhaps Lindbergh has a "swelled head." We don't know. But everybody knows this: If ever a mortal on this whirling old planet might justifiably have burst all the handbats in the world's bazars, Lindbergh is the man. How he has contrived for more than a year to endure the homage of the "Captains and the Kings," as well as the frenzied adulation of Prince Mob, with never an intimation of "strutting" until he came in his wanderings to Amarillo and Ed Howe's son, is as miraculous as was his super-egg flight. And his explanation of the Amarillo affair that it is an exceedingly difficult thing to land in a crowded field, that an airplane's propeller on the ground is a galvanized guillotine, will be accepted. As for the brickbat, heigh-ho, and a great big yawn. The Ephesian Dome had its Erostratus, Lindbergh his Scroogel of Amarillo.

Congress and Mr. Coolidge

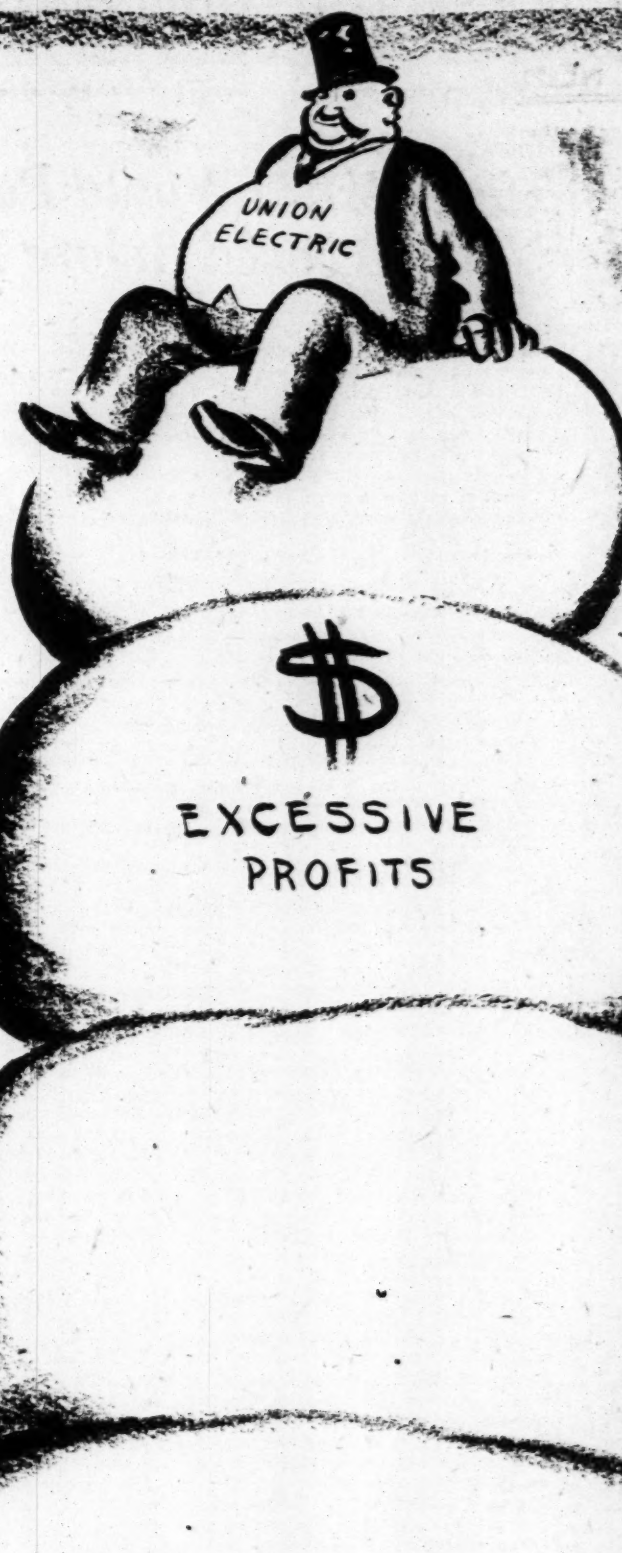

How Mr. Coolidge's Use of the Veto, or Government by Negotiation, Hamstrings Congressional Initiative; It Was With a Stern and Righteous Joy That the President Once Again Beheaded the McNary-Haugen Monster.

From The New Republic.

THE impotence of Congress to restore congressional government is due in part to the decadence of the American parties and in part to the debility of Congress itself. Formerly both parties embodied coalitions of interests and sections which formed a working union. But now the agricultural interest of the Far West is fighting within the Republican party for the prosperity against the dominant industrialism of the Eastern and Middle Western Republicanism, while the Democrats of the large Northern cities and of the cotton states have nothing in common except their allegiance to a name and the desire to prosper against the dominant industrialism of the Eastern and Middle Western Republicanism. There is no effective party majority in Congress; nor does any existing majority represent a consensus in public opinion sufficiently dynamic to dominate the presidency. Popular inertia in matters of opinion ought to favor congressional action, but it has not helped Congress in its contest with Coolidge, for one good reason: American public opinion recently combined inertia with uneasiness. Mr. Coolidge has specialized in pragmatic inertia and Congress in being uneasy. The American mind sustains its complacency by what golfers call pressing, and it puts up an appearance of equilibrium by impounding behind a dam the present and prospective causes of instability. Congress, more than the President, is the victim of this kind of stasis, and conferring body which loses force unless it is able to base decisions upon thorough and candid discussion. It gives a half-hearted expression at present both to the uneasiness of American opinion and its evasive and forced complacency. It cannot govern a society whose infirmities it merely reflects.

Since 1917 the legislative impotence of American Government has coincided with increasing administrative activity and efficiency. The executive has undergone a process of asyndetism at the expense in part of Congress. In the hands of the general political lassitude and debility, it might have been possible for an aggressive executive to revive presidential government, but our two recent Presidents could not or would not take the initiative and push it. If Mr. Harding had not been inclined to yield to Congress, he never would have been President. Mr. Coolidge has not possessed either the temperament or the outlook of a leader. He is fatuously content with things as they are, and on those rare occasions when he has produced a presidential policy and tried to induce Congress to accept it, he has failed and he has taken his defeat lying down. Nevertheless, he has not co-operated successfully with Congress. Now that his term is drawing to an end, the President and Congress are as much irritated with each other as if Mr. Coolidge had tried to follow the demagogic tactics of Roosevelt and Wilson.

Congress, as we have pointed out, is partly at fault, but the chief responsibility belongs to Mr. Coolidge. He is a man who

There it stands in the corner with its back to the wall.
That tooled leather match-case, so common to all.

As is only too well known, we do not use book matches. In that millennium of when we dream, matches will be the kind that can be scratched on walls, the sole of shoes or the underside of the table. But if we must choose between a lighter and a book-match, we prefer the book-match. Little did we realize, as we took the book-match, that it was a sort of self-kindling. But as the term is used here, and as Father Walsh understands it, the process of art is that of viewing life as from a great height.

Thou hast conquered, O gold palatine lighter:
The match has gone out from thy flame:
Though thy light is uncertain at best.

The final result is the same.
As Shakespeare says, "Disasters desperate grown, by desperate appliance are relieved or not at all." The desperate appliance we are relieved to proclaim, is at hand. It is the tooled leather match-case for book matches. We knew the inventive mind of man could cope with the menace of the lighter. First we had the brass match-case; then the silver and gold match-case. These latter, we thought, rather weakened the position of us match users. If the lighter is a luxury, so is the gold match-case. But with the tooled leather match-case, we can fight it out along this line. It takes our last cigarette. The leather match-case is sophisticated, refined and tinged with luxury to just that fine degree which bespeaks our appreciation of the position of the book match in a decent world. We hope we get one for Christmas.

Admitting the big success that prohibition is, we yet recall when "I went to the kitchen to get a drink" was not a statement with a double meaning.

It does seem strange that when perfect bridge hands are reported, as they are, and then, no mention is made of the help of the son who stands behind the chair and advises the strategy of the hand.

The irony of fate is that while every country in the international pugnant of balance suits has very definite ideas on the debt, universal peace, only one of them will get her opinion into print.

Senator Fess is to make the keynote speech, and we know of no man better qualified to explain that a veto does not mean what it says.

The difference between a Republican and a Democrat seems to be that a Republican has to have a reason for being opposed to somebody.

We have read about that experienced wherein a saxophone drowned out the noise of an airplane engine, but we keep thinking the experiment was designed to work the other way round.

Nothing seems to delay a garden more late spring or a resolution to die the plant yourself.

A Great Story

THE FALL OF THE RUSSIAN EMPIRE. By Edward A. Walsh. (Little Brown.)

THIS is not a formal history of Russia," says Father Walsh in his foreword; "it is the story of the triumph of folly in Russia and the penalty she paid for that historic madness. Neither is this narrative an apothecary of the Russian Revolution after the manner of Thomas Carlyle. Least of all should it be interpreted as a smug indictment of Bolshevik theory and practice. The patent excesses in both, though not intelligent, are intelligible."

Thus boldly the author sets a very high standard for his discussion of an overwhelming tragedy involving a social question that has divided the world into bitterly opposed camps, and is far from being answered yet. What is more remarkable in a work on such a theme is the fact that the high standard is maintained from beginning to end. This is therefore a book calculated to delight those who are convinced that the catalog of valid answers to a complex question may be limited to a pugnacious "yes" or "no." The keynote of Father Walsh's attitude is struck in the words, not intelligent but intelligible. His purpose is, primarily, neither to condemn nor to approve, but to understand. His method is made clear when he tells us that, as he sees it, history is not a science but an art. There seems to be some reason for suspecting that in the distinction here suggested might be found the tragic joke in all his writing. For while the scientific approach can serve to extend and magnify human powers, it is through the art consciousness alone that men may hope to guide the powers thus attained to humane ends, to understand their fellow men and trace in the apparent chaos of conflicting human relations some larger and more inclusive pattern of meaning than those fragmentary ones by which we still live with so much discord. (If some religiousist should object to the emphasis here laid upon the art consciousness, he has only to follow essential religion and add enough to arrive at their common source.)

Unfortunately, the word art has come to signify a more or less entertaining means of escape from real life, a representation of things as they are, a sort of self-kindling. But as the term is used here, and as Father Walsh understands it, the process of art is that of viewing life as from a great height.

THE wedding of Miss Edith Gertrude Cann, daughter of Mrs. Herbert L. Cann, 5513 Julian avenue, and Robert Boyd Bassett, son of Dr. and Mrs. Sam T. Bassett, 2 Beverly place, was solemnized at 4 o'clock this afternoon at the home of the bride's mother, the services being read by the Rev. Dr. William B. Lampe of the West Presbyterian Church in the presence of the families and a few close friends. A small reception followed the wedding and a dinner was held for the bride party at the Missouri Athletic Association.

Miss Cann was attended by her sister-in-law, Mrs. Herbert L. Cann, as matron of honor; Miss Clara Beardslee as maid of honor, and Miss Virginia Candlish as bridesmaid. Mr. Bassett had Russell Rath as best man and William Tausig, Fullerton Wilhite and Lynn Meyer as groomsmen. Sarah Rust Robinson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Robinson, was the flower girl.

The wedding took place in the living room and the bridal party stood before an improvised altar of palms, ferns and early summer flowers. At either side of the altar were tapers in tall candleholders.

The bride wore a gown of white chiffon. The sleeveless bodice was adorned in a bertha terminating into a cape in the back and trimmed with Brussels lace. A wide band of the lace edged the hemline of the full skirt, which was attached to the bodice by a crushed chiffon cord with a rhinestone clasp. Her hair was held in place by orange blossoms fast to the hair of her gown. She carried a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley.

Mrs. Cann, Miss Beardslee and Miss Candy wore chiffon gowns of coral, flesh and egg shell pink, respectively, and carried arm bouquets of roses. Their gowns were made with tight sleeveless bodices with round necklines. The skirts were in two tiers with unbroken hemlines. The little flower girl wore a smocked dress of blue crepe de chine and carried blue gentian.

The bride gave her attendants silver and enameled compacts, and Mr. Bassett presented his best man and groomsmen small traveling clocks.

Mr. Bassett and his bride are graduates of Washington University. He is a member of Kappa Alpha Fraternity and she belongs to Pi Beta Phi Sorority.

FOUR HOOVER DELEGATES WIN TEXAS CONTEST

Creager Faction Is Recognized Over Wurzbach Rivals by G. O. P. Committee.

LOWDEN GETS FOUR S. CAROLINA SEATS

Opposing Slate Withdrawn, Giving the Entire Block of 11 Votes to Illinois Candidate.

By the Associated Press.

KANSAS CITY, June 6.—The four Creager delegates-at-large from Texas, instructed by Herbert Hoover for the presidency, today were granted seats in next week's Republican National Convention over the protest of a rival faction headed by Representative Wurzbach of San Antonio.

In the fight for supremacy among Texas Republicans the entire delegation of 25 from Texas was involved.

On the one side was R. B. Creager, national committeeman, representing a slate of delegates committed to Hoover's candidacy. On the other were Representative Wurzbach, the only Republican from Texas in Congress, and C. C. Littleton of Fort Worth, who held committee proxy from South Dakota, giving him a right, along with Creager, to a hand in the decision. The Wurzbach-Littleton delegation was unopposed.

Recalls Senate Testimony.

Wurzbach, leading off, lashed into an attack against two Negro members of the National Committee—Perry W. Howard of Mississippi and Ben Davis of Georgia. He recalled testimony before the Senate investigating committee that both had received money during the convention campaign from Rush Holland, whom he described as "an assistant Attorney-General under Harry Daugherty." Wurzbach pointed out that Holland went into the South as a Hoover agent. "We have made serious charges against the Republican organization in Texas but they are not so serious as those made against two members of this committee who took money and the man who paid them," said Wurzbach. "We have slight hope of winning out if this committee is going to accept the low standard of political righteousness set by these men."

"Goose Neck Hill's" Review.

William M. (Goose Neck Hill) MacDonald, Fort Worth Negro and a delegate-at-large siding with Littleton, Wurzbach and William Paul Gage of Dallas, reviewed the developments which led to the break between Texas Republicans and the selection of rival delegates to states. He charged that men deserting Federal offices in Texas had been called upon to pay for them. He also insisted that the Creager faction had followed a policy of discriminating against Negroes. Creager declared that charges made against him and his associates were "absolutely false." He said his group had followed precedent and the law in selecting delegates to the national convention, while the opposition had not.

"My opponents have presented no facts," Creager continued. "Instead, you have been lectured by a San Antonio Congressman who has insulted two national committeemen. I will defend them. There is nothing wrong in receiving money for legitimate use in a political campaign."

No roll call vote was taken. In addition to Creager those who were seated were Eugene Nolte of Eugene, Orville Bullington of Wichita Falls and R. F. Lee of Houston.

The Wurzbach slate had been counted on to support Lowden in the convention. Before the committee entered executive session to decide the dispute, Chairman William M. Butler questioned spokesmen for the Wurzbach faction and expressed the view that the Congressman and his associates "suffered brief and inconspicuous evidence." With one exception during the last few days Butler has been voting with the anti-Hoover forces on the contests.

Four More for Lowden.

Four delegates at large from South Carolina, pledged as supporters of Lowden, were seated today when the National Committee ratified the withdrawal of a contest against them. The delegation the credentials of which were recognized is headed by Joseph W. Tolbert, national committeeman. The other three are: Samuel J. Leaphart of Lexington, Wesley S.
